

BROOKS ACADEMY MUSEUM

Harwich, MA

Located in the Harwich Historic District, Brooks Academy is a pillared Doric-style Greek revival building listed in the National Register of Historic Places. It was originally opened in 1844 as a two-room private school, and now houses the museum of the Harwich Historical Society.

Coastal Engineering Company was hired to help in restoration of the building, including foundation underpinning and historical structural renovations to the portico, columns and cornices.
