

SOUTH HARWICH MEETINGHOUSE

Harwich, MA

The significant 1836 meetinghouse, an exemplary model of early Greek and Gothic design and once an important center for worship and social activity, had fallen into great disrepair. Friends of the South Harwich Meetinghouse, Inc. have worked tirelessly in their effort to return the Meetinghouse to its original condition, worthy of its recognition in the National Register of Historic Places. Coastal Engineering Co. assisted the preservation and restoration efforts through providing structural engineering for the foundation replacement and floor augmentation. Today, retaining its historically accurate colors, materials, and decor, the Meetinghouse is reimagined as a fine center for Cultural Arts, Performance, Education, and community gathering.

SERVICES

- Engineering design and plan preparation for structural foundation underpinning and structural retrofit restoration work
- Construction bid and contract administration

